Ingredients

For the Pasta Salad:

- 450 g dry spaghetti or rice noodles*
- 900 g shelled edamame or mukimame frozen
- 400 g shredded red cabbage (about 1/4 medium head)
- 4 carrots finely sliced or grated
- 2 bell pepper cut into thin strips
- 6 green onions sliced
- 1 small bunch cilantro chopped
- 140 g roasted peanuts roughly chopped

For the Dressing:

- 250 g natural creamy peanut butter
- 6 tablespoons lime juice about 1 large lime
- 4 tablespoons soy sauce or tamari
- 4 teaspoons toasted sesame oil optional
- 4 cloves garlic crushed
- 1 tablespoon ginger finely grated
- 2 teaspoon sugar or maple syrup or agave
- 120 ml warm water, plus more as necessary

Instructions

1. Cook the Pasta: Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil; add the pasta and cook until al dente, according to the package instructions. Drain the pasta and set aside to let cool.

2. Cook the Edamame: Microwave or cook the edamame according to the package instructions. Once cooked, transfer to a sieve and rinse with cold water until it reaches room temperature.
3. Make the Dressing: (Note: I like to do this while the pasta cooks to save time). Add the peanut butter, lime juice, soy sauce, sesame oil, garlic, ginger, and sugar to a medium bowl and whisk well, until a thick mixture forms. Slowly pour in the warm water while you mix the dressing; the dressing will look chunky at first, but smooth out and turn a lighter color once finished. Set aside.
4. Combine: Add the cooked noodles and edamame to a large bowl, then add in the cabbage, carrot, and bell pepper. Pour the dressing over the salad and toss well, until everything is evenly coated. Sprinkle the salad with the cilantro, green onion, and peanuts, then gently toss again to incorporate.
5. Serve & Store: Serve immediately, or let the pasta sit in the refrigerator for 15 minutes or so to allow all of the flavors to combine. Store any leftovers in an airtight container in the refrigerator for up to 5 days.
